IMPROVEMENT MEETING

NEW ORGANIZATION FORMED TO FOSTER DEVELOPMENT OF VALLEY

A number of citizens of Glendale, who have felt since peace was announced that this section of the San Fernando Valley should get busy for the purpose of taking care of all proposed improvements and industrial projects, met Tuesday evening at 136 North Brand and formed a temporary organization.

The meeting was called to order by C. L. Chandler, who named Norton C. Wells as temporary chairman. W. E. Evans was elected temporary secretary. An opportunity was then given to those present to speak upon the question of the needs of the community.

R. L. McCourt said that in selecting a name for the association he would suggest the Glendale Board of Trade or the Glendale Chamber of Commerce. W. E. Evans was of the opinion that a committee should be appointed, and after thoroughly discussing the objects to be accomplished the name could then be more appropriately given to the organization.

J. B. Cohn spoke on the importance of getting the highway improved between the new Ivanhoe bridge and the city of Los Angeles. It was his opinion that all citizens owning property in the valley should be interested in this project.

John Robert White, Jr., brought to the attention of those present the need of a swimming pool in Glendale. He said that during the summer months the boulevard between Glendale and Pasadena was dotted with boys going to Brookside Park to take advantage of the swimming pool there. He said Glendale should have these facilities within her own borders.

Alex Mitchell stated that it had been his experience that any kind of an improvement could be worked out successfully if the people united in making it. He referred to a company of men, of which he was one, who erected the first brick building on Brand Boulevard, the building being the one north of the Pacific Electric station, now occupied by the Bank of Glendale.

Wesley Bullis called attention to the need of improvements on the wash. He said that since the war was over it will now be possible to have this improvement taken up, and he thinks the people of Glendale are the ones who should urge it.

S. C. Kinch said he is a new man in Glendale, but is ready to co-operate and put his shoulder to any progressive movement that may be taken up for the good of the valley.

Charles H. Toll spoke of the need of an organization for the purpose of promoting and executing plans for the good of the community. He said county and city officials have so many important questions coming before them at all times that it is impossible for them to give time to many things that need attention. He spoke, too, of the need of a swimming pool and a place of recreation for the young people of the city.

Henry C. Jensen was of the opinion that the first thing of importance to do is to get a real strong organization with a large membership of citizens who are ready to go to work and do something for the community.

John A. Cole pointed out the fact that Glendale needs a tourist hotel, one similar to those in some of our sister cities. This suggestion from Mr. Cole brought out enthusiastic applause.

KNIGHTS TEMPLAR

GLENDALE COMMANDRY PLANS WORK IN ENTHUSIASTIC MEETING

The Glendale Commandery of the Knights Templar resumed regular lodge work at a meeting called Monday night. After so long an interval without meetings the officers declare members will have to work hard to catch up with their schedule.

They are planning some social relaxations and will soon resume the monthly dinners which have been such a pleasant feature of the organization. Also, they will celebrate the coming of peace by a real turkey dinner, the date for the function to be decided next Monday night.

The Monday night meeting was an enthusiastic reunion and also a thanksgiving because no members have been lost to the Lodge by death in battle or from influenza. They even got back Captain Grumbling as he was about to be snatched from them by Uncle Sam on the eve of the signing of the armistice, and congratulated themselves on retaining this "soldier for a day."

GLENDALE WAKING UP

PROSPECT THAT CITY MAY ESCAPE SHAME OF FAILURE IN UNITED WAR WORK DRIVE

With still $700 to raise and only one day left in which to make it, solicitors are working energetically, almost frantically, to cover the ground and place Glendale in the enviable list of those towns that have reached their quota.

None of us, upon sober second thought, will want to be one to bear the stigma of having caused the failure of Glendale, by having shirked our share of the giving. Someone has said, "If every one in Glendale would give a dollar, the amount would be quickly raised." But we should remember that it is impossible for all to give; there are those in our midst to whom the struggle for mere existence is a severe one. Hence those who have means must give for their needy neighbors.

Headquarters will be open late tonight to receive subscriptions. Do not hesitate to turn in small amounts if that is all that can be afforded. Glendale's quota will be made up rather by the numbers of small subscriptions turned in than by large single amounts. One hundred dollars is the largest single subscription given in Glendale. The nearly 3,000 subscribers of smaller amounts have been what has enabled us to have reached the amount we now have.

TUESDAY CLUB GETS INVITE

Mrs. W. W. Ramsey, as president of the Tuesday Afternoon Club, has received from Mrs. Mattison B. Jones, chairman of hostess committee, an official invitation to club members to attend the opening of the Liberty Fair, which has been postponed and will take place Saturday, Nov. 23, instead of the 21st as at first announced. A flower show will be a feature of the Saturday program and it is believed the fair will be an immense success, socially as well as in other respects, and that it will bring together a large number of club women who have not had a change to meet each other since the influenza epidemic broke out. For that reason it is hailed with unusual anticipation.

CHRISTMAS LABELS

The extra labels for soldier's Christmas Boxes, though long since promised have not arrived at Red Cross headquarters. Mrs. Bartlett is confident they will be here by the 20th. As the date for mailing boxes has been extended to Nov. 30th, there will still be ample time in which to forward them. Many have been received from soldiers overseas, however, and they are being sent forward quite steadily. Yesterday afternoon more than fifteen were inspected and placed in the post office adressed to boys in khaki over there.

SEARCH HILLS AROUND ARCADIA

DEPUTY SHERIFFS SEEK POSSIBLE CONFEDERATES OF BANDIT DALE JONES, KILLED LAST NIGHT

(Special Service to Glendale Evening News)

Los Angeles, Nov. 20.—Deputy sheriffffs today are searching the hills around Arcadia for two alleged confederates of Dale Jones and his wife, who were killed last night in a gun fight with Deputy Sheriffs Anderson and Vanvliet. Vanvliet's body was brought to Los Angeles today, while the bodies of Jones and his wife are being held by the coroner.

Deputy sheriffs, while searching the house which the Joneses have occupied since the middle of October, found thirteen guns and quantities of ammunition today. They also found letters showing that Jones had been a member of the Y. M. C. A. in Kansas City and had lived at an exclusive club there. Jones was married to the woman who was killed with him in San Bernardino in May.

Postal inspectors today said they believed Jones was implicated in the $9,000 robbery of the Culver City Bank in December.

With the American Army in France, Nov. 20.—The American army of occupation resumed its march this morning toward the German frontier in the direction of Luxemburg and Thionville.

Thionville is located nine miles from the German border. It was expected the Americans would advance ten miles before stopping tonight.

Quanties of materials are being surrendered and every few miles the Americans encounter powerful defense systems where the Germans evidently had planned to make desperate resistance.

Following the surrender, the submarines proceeded to the port of Harwich, where British crews took them in charge. The German crews will return to Germany later aboard a transport.

M'ADOO ADVANCES EXPRESS RATES

(Special Service to Glendale Evening News)

Washington, Nov. 20.—Secretary McAdoo announced today that all express rates on government-controlled lines are to be increased an average of from ten to seventeen cents per 100 pounds. The increase is expected to produce twenty-four million dollars of additional revenue annually.

MEET HUNS AT LAST

HOLMAN P. MIDCALF GIVES VIVID ACCOUNT OF FRONT LINE EXPERIENCES WITH BOCHES

Salvation Army Hut,
Somewhere in France,
Oct. 14, 1918.

Dear Sisters:

"Received your letter a few days ago and so pleased to get it. You told me so many interesting things, it made me real glad. It has been more than a month since I wrote you, this is really the first opportunity I've had to write, we have been almost continually in battle since July 15th, and the last drive isn't finished yet. Everything is going on in fine shape, only we are having very cold nights and its pretty hard to sleep out in such weather.

You asked about the package you sent through Jacoby Bros., last June, yes, I got it, I am sure I wrote you about it, perhaps that letter went astray. Anyhow I want you to know that I enjoyed everything; the cakes, candies and jelly are the things the soldier longs for.

Will try to tell you a few of the happenings since I last wrote you. We were a long way back, in the rear, and thought we would surely get a vacation, but, instead, an order came for us to pack up and move toward the Front. It was to be a night move; every night was the same until we arrived at the Front and we went straight to the first line trenches. The night before the drive, we all went down in the big dugout and waited until morning. About midnight, the artillery started to hammer the Huns, and then the rain began to pour down, Such a rain! In a couple of hours we were standing in a foot of water. At daylight, we all came up ready for the big job. The tanks were ready and lined up to go "at em." We engineers were the first to go "over the top." We had to see that the way was clear for the tanks and in case they got stuck, in a shell hole, it was our job to get them out. One did get stuck, a hole had been covered with brush and we didn't know it until too late. After we got the tank started, we had to build a crossing over the German trenches. This took a few minutes; after that, everything was fine sailing, no shell holes to contend with, and the boches were running as fast as they could. No need to speak of the many bullets whizzing past my head and shells bursting close to me, that is always happening. I don't see how I came out of it altogether.

In the first town we captured, I got a German officer's helmet and sent it to you, hope it gets through all right. I also got a German watch and chain and several other things. We reached our objective in one day, we had supposed it would take 5 or 6 days, so we had to wait for the rest of the army to come up. We then moved to this front, where we are

HOUSEWIVES FOR SOLDIERS

Miss Coral Griffith, Chairman of Comfort Bags and Aviator's Vests for the local Red Cross Chapter was busy with other members of her committee at headquarters Tuesday in the manufacture of "housewives" for soldiers, for which a quota of 300 has been assigned the Chapter. One member was kept busy cutting khaki (of which they were made) while the needlewomen swiftly fashioned and sewed them. The "roll" consisted of a strip 5½ by 12 inches containing pockets for various articles and flannel "leaves" to carry needles and pins. Under requisition orders the housewives contain: 8 sharp needles, 2 darning needles; 6 safety pins (2 inches long); 6 ditto (one inch long) 2 blanket pins; strong thread, khaki color, carded, for army; ditto black thread for navy; strong white linen thread, carded; 12 buttons, khaki colored for army; 12 black buttons for navy; 6 white buttons; 6 hooks and eyes; enclosed in small bag with draw string.

RECRUITS FOR MARINES

It is clear that the service of Uncle Sam still has allurements, for inductions are going on in the only branches now open. Tuesday Howard Mitchell Graves, of 214 Park avenue, Eagle Rock, received his competent orders from Washington, went to Los Angeles and joined the Marines.

Competent orders have also come from Washington and are now in the hands of the Exemption Board for Erban Almon Scofield, of 1424 So. Glendale ave., this city; and Allison James Wallace, of Sunland, for induction into the Marines. These men are expected to call at the Board headquarters and reply to the orders, indicating whether they wish to accept them or not.

ELK HOME STILL DEAR

MEMBERS IN SERVICE WRITE INTERESTING LETTERS TO B. P. O. E. 1289

Following are entertaing letters which have been written to the Glendale Elk's Lodge by some of its members who have been serving Uncle Sam loyally and whose hearts are still true to their club.

Somewhere in France
Sept. 18, 1918.

Mr. R. M. Jackson, secretary and Brothers of Glendale Lodge No. 1289, B. P. O. E.

Dear Brothers:

Received your nice long letter and to say it was welcome and appreciated would be putting it mildly for it was the very first letter I received since coming across. "Nuf sed."

Tell the brothers I am very proud of the showing the bowling team has made and I hope they cop the pennant in the league.

I know Cap Wattles will bring home another cup if he takes his team to San Diego.

Please the the boys I am well and happy, still getting three squares a day and eight hours bunk fatigue most every night.

I am at present billeted in a very pretty little town near Bordeaux. The climate here is very much like our own. It is only ten minutes walk to a little lake so we have a dandy place to swim.

Of my trip across the pond, I can tell you very little as the censor forbids but when I get back to 1289 I'll tell you all about it.

I am now able to spout a little French. The language is a very difficult one but constant mingling with the people makes it easier to learn.

I have done very little ivory tickling in the past year so I don't suppose I could give the brothers much noise on the piano, but I might be able to toot a bit on the horn for them.

I would be pleased to hear from any of the boys at any time. Please give my "very best" to them.

Fraternally,
Herb.

Glendale Lodge No. 1289,
B. P. O. Elks,
Glendale, Calif.

Dear Brother Elks:

About a week ago I was greatly pleased and elated to receive a letter from 1289 enclosing a Red, White, and Blue Membership Card, it is beyond my power to thank you for this kindness and remembrance, I consider it one of my most treasured possessions. This card had been mailed to me at Camp Kearney and forwarded on to me here, which accounted for the delay.

EVELYN KENT WEDS

INFLUENZA EPIDEMIC IS MEANS OF BRINGING TOGETHER CONGENIAL SOULS

There is no closed season for Cupid. Even when such an epidemic as the influenza sweeps the country, he is able to do efficient work. Such a demonstration has been given the many friends of Miss Evelyn Kent, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. C. W. Kent of 107 Arden avenue, whose marriage on Wednesday, November 13, to Leslie M. West of Yuma, Arizona, has just been announced in letters received from the happy young people. Rev. A. J. Tomlinson, pastor of the Baptist church of Yuma, officiated at the marriage, which took place at the parsonage, and Mr. and Mrs. West are now at home at 437 Sixth street, Yuma. The groom went to Yuma to take charge of the emergency hospital which the city found it necessary to establish to take care of influenza cases. There he met Miss Kent, who had volunteered for service as a nurse after the schools were closd. Under such unusual circumstances their acquaintance progressed rapidly and soon ripened into love which has been crowned by marriage. Mr. West has been made health officer of Yuma, and Mrs. West will continue her work as a teacher in the public schools. To make up for lost time, school sessions will be held on Saturdays, and there will be no Christmas holidays, therefore Mr. and Mrs. Kent do not expect a visit from Mr. and Mrs. West until next June, but they may make the trip to Yuma to get acquainted with their son-in-law.

The delicate health of the bride has always been a cause of anxiety to her parents, and they are gratified to know that she has married a man who is able to give her expert care.

COMPLETE LIBERTY BOND PAYMENTS

Do not fail to complete your Liberty Bond payments, is the appeal of Secretary of the Treasury William G. McAdoo, as sent to the Twelfth Federal Reserve District Liberty Loan headquarters. Following is the Secretary's appeal:

"Many employers throughout the country have rendered most patriotic assistance in the distribution of Liberty Loan Bonds to their employees and have assisted them in the purchase of these bonds by arranging that payments may be made in installments covering a period of time longer than that which could be granted by the Treasury Department.

"It is the duty of the subscribers to bonds on these partial payment plans to complete the contract into which they have entered. If they do not do so, both they and the government suffer, as the bonds for which they have contracted and for which they do not pay in full must usually be sold in the open market.

"It is, of course, recognized that in case of necessity caused by sickness or other unavoidable circumstances, cancellations of subscriptions or sales of bonds are warranted. In cases where employees have made arrangements to purchase these bonds on installment plans and then sever their connection with the employer with whom they have made subscriptions, arrangements should be made for the completion of the subscription or for having the subscription taken over by the new employer or by a bank in the community where the subscriber resides, thus avoiding the necessity for sale of the bonds covered by the subscription."

PRO-GERMANISM OF MEXICO

Mexico may be neutral in name; in fact it is pro-German to an extreme. The land of Montezuma is not an important country in the same sense as the progressive A B C nations. It is important to the United States in somewhat the same way that a hospital for contagious diseases would become important to you if it should move next door to your house. Mexico has long been infested with all sorts of social germs, from peaceful graft to murderous revolutionism, and now it has the Teutonic bacillus. If proof were needed, it would be sufficient to call to mind the proposal of President Carranza, made in February of last year, that all the countries of this hemisphere should be what pro-Germans call "genuine neutrals;" in other words, should stop exporting anything to any of the belligerents; in still other words, which Don Venustiano did not dare to use, should stop exporting petroleum for the English navy.

"It is easy to explain the pro-Germanism of Mexico. It is not because the Mexicans have no love for France. Many Mexicans, moreover, have expressed absolute disapproval of the wanton murder of women and children by the Huns. But into the pro-German scale, along with propaganda and church influence, has been thrown a factor which outweighs all else—an intense hatred of the United States, especially among the masses. The cry, "Mueran Los Yanquins" (Death to the Yankees!) is as common in Mexico as 'Gott strafe England!' is in Germany. There is no hope of Mexico ever being anything but pro-German, not at least, until the war is over, and we are able to undertake the long and laborious task of proving to Mexicans that we are not their natural enemies.—Frederick Bliss Luquiens, in October Century.

OUR FOREFATHERS' WISDOM

When in 1876 our forefathers had broken away from Great Britain, they found themselves a loose aggregation of thirteen independent colonies, cursed with all the (supposed) conflict of interests and with all the prejudicies common to "lands intersected by a narrow frith." A glorious military opportunity. If the thirteen colonies had retained their sovreignites, their thirteen sets of militarists would easily have convinced each set that it would be madness to expect peace between them without "preparedness," and we should have had here, ever since, a Kilkenny cat situation, keeping the states weak and an easy prey to the stronger (because less divided) monarchies of Europe.

But the real and useful thinkers of that day did somehow succeed in inducing those thirteen communities to forget their little inter-provincial "patriotisms," and to form just such a "league of nations" as is now proposed on a larger scale—and that before the days of railroads and telegraphs.

That we have had peace with Great Britain for over a century, is not because Americans and Englishmen are angels above all other men, but because of ideals formulated by our forefathers which have resulted in the unprepared Canadian frontier, and their wit to learn by experience and refer differences to arbitration. This has made us a nation fit to be entrusted with the sword. We use it righteously, and then we make a plowshare of it.

SYRIA AND PALESTINE

Syria is a large area, wheras Palestine is but a corner of Syria. The chief Syrian cities, Damascus and Aleppo, lie outside Palestine. Beirut, a Syrian seaport, is farther from Jerusalem than was the ancient Tyre, whose king, Hiram, friend of Solomon, furnished the cedar for the Temple of Jehovah. And the railroad leading from Damascus to the Red Sea port, which conveys pilgrims to the holy cities of Medina and Mecca, runs east of the Jordan wholly outside the possible borders of the proposed Jewish Zionistic state.

Geographically there is, therefore, no irreconcilability between an autonomous Palestine. The most ambitious Zionists could find no historical claim for Israel to Damascus or to what were once the Philistine cities of Askelon and Gaza. Nor can Syrians object, if Christendom, which is to give them their own liberty, requires the cession of a small corner of their land which in their possession has been particularly productive.

Mohammedans scarcely can object, since they themselves will be emancipated from the Turkish yoke by grace of the British armies and Christendom's consent. Security will be guaranteed to the Moselm holy cities by the settlement and they will have a better business from pilgramages than they could have hoped for. And the Arabs, remunerated, cannot well deny to Christendom possession of the Christion holy places as put in the trust of the Jews.

Really the difficulties suggested by disputants are so small as easily to be dissipated. Of course, if the Zionists fancy that all Syria is to become Jewish, they will be disappointed. And if Syrians cannot be contented with virtually all to which they have aspired, they will be ungrateful. But it is unreasonable to assume either supposition to be fact or likely to become such.

What are to be the exact boundaries of the Jewish state, is unknown. The ancient Kingdom of Israel was a narrow realm at its greatest, lying between the River Jordan and the sea. It was shut off southwestward from the coast by the Philistines and it claims northward were not very tangible. The kingdom was split, leaving only Judea and Benjamin, to the Davidic dynasty. The northern tribes became scattered or extinct. The jews of history were confined to the southern kingdom. They will be given more than ancient Judea, of course, but it would be preposterous for them to claim more than Palestine.—Minneapolis Journal.

INCREASE IN TUBERCULOSIS

California will be obliged to increase the number of its beds by at least one-third in the tuberculosis sanatoria of the counties, said Mrs. E. L. M. Tate Thompson, director of the bureau of tuberculosis of the State Board of Health, in an interview today.

Patients who have not made a complete recovery from influenza and pneumonia will find the aftermath, in many instances, to be tuberculosis. Already some of the counties are making haste to provide more beds.

Considering the fact that no community in the State escaped the epidemic, much work will need to be done by the city and county visiting nurses in following up by house visits the people who were ill, and in warning them that the utmost care must be taken of themselves, and to observe whether they need a physical examination to detect tuberculosis. This is the time when an ounce of prevention is worth a hundred pounds of cure. The unaccounted tired feeling, the loss of weight and appetite are danger signals that must be heeded. The public must have at least learned by this time that it is well to beware of the men or women who cough and sneeze in the faces of people near them.

SOUTH AFRICA CONSERVES WHEAT

The far-reaching effects of war on remote parts of the world may be seen in efforts to safeguard the wheat supply of South Africa. According to the wheat conservation act, recently enacted, standard flour is to contain not less than 75 per cent of the wheat berry and 83 per cent of standard flour is to be mixed with 17 per cent of meal, barley, rye, or other regulation substitute.

This South African ratio is noticeably similiar to the 80-20 plan of wheat conservation recently in force here in America and the allied countries.

TO HEAT MAIL PLANES

The first touch of winter flying conditions in the air mail service between New York and Washington was encountered by Ed Gardner, who left New York in a cold rain and later flew 40 miles through a snowstorm at 7000 feet. The snow was so dense that he could not see the wings of his machine.

Arrangements to combat winter flying conditions are being made by the postoffice department in the securing of electrically heated clothing and the installation of individual heating plants for each mail plane motor in the hangars. Equipment also has been devised for control of the planes on sleet and ice on the ground.

K. OF P. TO MEET

An executive committee of Knights of Pythias was held last week to transact business of the organization. The first regular meeting will be held in the Lodge Hall at Brand and Park avenues, Thursday evening of the present week, at which time plans for the winter's work will be made.

WAR RELIEF SECTION

The war relief section of the Tuesday Afternoon Club will meet at the home of Mrs. Dan Campbell on Kenneth Road for an all-day session Thursday at 10 o'clock when work for Belgian and French relief will be done. Ladies will bring lunches and coffee will be served at noon. It is hoped that there will be a large attendance of Club members not alone to aid in the work but to participate in a Thanksgiving Victory program which will be given at 1:30 o'clock in the afternoon.

ADVENT WORK AT ST. MARK'S

In order to promote the Advent work of St. Mark's parish, the members of the Woman's Auxiliary will meet Friday, Nov. 29, in the Sunday school room at 2 p. m. Several new branches of work will be discussed and for this a full attendance is necessary.

Personals

The Kopp family of West Cypress street have all had the influenza but all are better and will soon be as good as new.

Mrs. H. H. Dreyer of Montebello who formerly resided on Cedar St., this city, plans to visit Glendale the latter part of the week and call on old friends.

Rev. M. I. Hoagland of Los Angeles, Founder of the Occult Science of Christ Churches will lecture to the public tonight at the success and Health Club, Hurtt's Hall, Brdwy.

Occidental college will open for class work on Thursday and the regular Thursday schedule will be observed that day. There will be no public assemblies.

The Womans Guild of St. Mark's Church will meet at Red Cross Headquarters on Thursday. There are a great many refugee garments to make and a large attendance is desired.

Rev. Leonard, pastor of the South Park Presbyterian Church of Los Angeles, occupied the pulpit of the Tropico Presbyterian Church last Sunday evening, his own church being closed. He and Mr. Rider are old friends and college chums.

Mrs. Tuck, who has been the house guest of Dr. and Mrs. R. V. Hogue is now at the bedside of her sister, Mrs. Allen of Santa Ana who has been desperately ill of influenza. Though better, she is by no means out of danger. She is a sister of Mrs. Hogue.

The Woman's Missionary Society of the Tropico Presbyterian Church will meet at the church Friday. A luncheon will be served in the parlors at noon and will be followed in the afternoon by the annual praise meeting. A speaker from Pasadena will make the address.

Frank Searle, son of Mrs. Minnie Searle, of Cerritos avenue, came home from Camp Kearney on a furlough, developed a bad case of influenza which ran into pneumonia. He came very near to death but is now able to be out. He was one of the first to enlist from the Tropico District.

Patriotic Chairmen of the various P. T. A. organizations are advised that Mrs. Helen Sadler, Chairman of the Hospital Garment Section of the Glendale Red Cross Chapter has a number of outing flannel bathrobes and surgeon's gowns to be made which she will be glad to give out to Red Cross workers.

Mrs. Helen Sadler, Chairman of the Hospital Garments Department of the Red Cross, is again asking all persons who have taken serge dresses for girls to make, to return them to the Chapter whether they are completed or not, as the department must make an accounting of them. They were given out in October.

Among the late cases of influenza in the Tropico District are Mrs. Hyer, of Gardena avenue, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Louis Baker, and Miss Winifred Bacon of 115 San Fernando Road. Miss Bacon is a High School girl and it is tough luck to be taken sick the opening week of school. Neither one of these patients is seriously ill.

Mrs. H. V. Brown received a letter a few days ago from Captain Brown, now at Camp Wadsworth, expressing the opinion that he will be kept where he is for a while, as the surgical units are not to be demobilized right away. He is well and happy and satisfied to stay there as long as Uncle Sam needs him.

That the Exemption Board is not the only set of people that gets muddled about questionnaires and what to do with them is evident from the following communication addressed that body recently: "Received questionnaire but I'm delayed on account of time to meet obligation of request of that document. Kindly grant favor with extension of time in a few days and oblige."

Grief has come to H. P. Goodwin of Garfield avenue, this city. Monday, November 18, 1918, his grandfather on the maternal side, David Gordon Phinney, died at the age of 89 years at the home of Mrs. G. H. A. Goodwin in Hollywood, after a very short illness. Had he lived until January, he would have celebrated his ninetieth birthday. He was a native of Nova Scotia. Mr. and Mrs. Goodwin are now in Hollywood, where funeral services are to be held this afternoon.

Rev. Shoemaker, a former pastor of the Tropico Presbyterian Church, and Mrs. Shoemaker, attended services there last Sunday. Their own church, of which Mr. Shoemaker is the pastor, at Fillmore, was closed some time ago on account of influenza, and was converted into an emergency hospital for the treatment of twenty-six cases. The Shoemakers have been visiting friends in Los Angeles, and learning that the ban had been lifted, came out to worship with old friends here.

Mrs. Leo. D. Hyer of 635 Gardena avenue is reported to be lying at the point of death of influenza and her brother, Allen Baker, is also very ill.

Mrs. A. J. Harrison at 121 East Cypress street is entertaining a few friends and relatives today at a dinner given in celebration of her husband's birthday.

Frank H. Guernsey and family have moved to Pasadena. Mr. Guernsey conducted a jewelry establishment in Glendale for a number of years on East Broadway.

Mr. and Mrs. James McDonald of 1255 South Maryland avenue, have rented their home furnished to Mr. and Mrs. Hugh Avis of Los Angeles, who plan to spend the winter here.

Miss Marjorie Tyler, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Louis Siple of 329 East Harvard street, underwent a very serious operation at Thornycroft Monday morning. Her complete recovery is anticipated.

Frank Webster of South Maryland avenue (Blanche ave.) is now able to go out after a very severe attack of influenza complicated with ptomaine poisoning which nearly cost him his life.

The Glendale Commercial School reopened Monday with a large attendance. A good business education is an asset that brings satisfactory returns. This school has been very successful in finding good positions for all its worthy pupils.

The wife and children of Professor Harwood, principal of the Cerritos street school, spent last week with Mrs. Harwood's mother in Santa Ana. During their absence Prof. Harwood was a dinner guest in the home of Mr. and Mrs. Eustace B. Moore on South Maryland avenue.

Eustace B. Moore of South Maryland avenue spent the week-end at Big Bear Lake with four other fishermen of Los Angeles who have a cabin there and make frequent trips to the wilds. He brought back a creditable number of fish which were small but delicious and his family will be perfectly willing to have him get more of the same kind.

WORDS OF APPRECIATION AND GOOD WILL

Editor Evening News: I wish, through the columns of your paper, to express my thanks and appreciation to the many friends who supported me so loyally at the election. Their efforts on my behalf were entirely voluntary and even though I failed to secure the majority of votes at the election it is very gratifying to realize that through their work so many thousands of voters throughout the District supported me at the election, though I had been, a resident here such a comparatively short time.

I have already called up my successful opponent, Mr. White and congratulated him on his election, thanked him for conducting a clean campaign and wished him a successful term of office.

Owing to my having been at Santa Barbara nearly all of the time since the election I have been prevented from making this announcement earlier.

MISS SCOTT RETURNS TO CAMP

Miss Merva Scott, who is now able to be out after a severe attack of influenza, and whose mother has also been ill of the same disease, went to San Diego Tuesday to rejoin the Camp Kearny Theatre Company, which is under government direction. She has just been assigned a very nice specialty in the company, which puts on a variety program that nearly always includes a musical comedy, changed twice a week. Although still weak from her illness, she believes she will be equal to the assignment and will be glad to get back to her regular work. The soldier boys have missed the players and are planning to entertain them at mess and give them a warm welcome.

AN OLD TIME QUILT

"Grandma" Lucas, mother of Dr. P. O. Lucas, has just established herself in a cosy little home which she has purchased on Palmer avenue and where she is at home to her large circle of friends. There she may be found almost any day closely occupied with her special work of piecing or quilting, for Grandma is a great quilt maker, one of the real old fashioned kind. Just at present she has the unique task of quilting a bed covering pieced fifty years ago by the mother of Rev. J. H. Henry of South Central avenue. It is composed of dainty patches of old fashioned patterns such as Grandma remembers and to her is a most interesting piece of work. It is safe to predict that all her fancy designs will be employed in putting it together. Rev. Henry has been in Glendale about two weeks and expects soon to return to his charge in Nevada.

METHODIST DOINGS

Rev. H. S. Munger, the new pastor of the Tropico Methodist Church, and Mrs. Munger, entertained the members of the official board of the church and their families Tuesday evening in an informal but entirely delightful way. It was the first opportunity they have had to meet any of their church members socially, the influenza ban having cut off the customary intercourse.

The morning and evening Sunday services at which Mr. Munger preached drew excellent congregations and were much enjoyed.

The Epworth League meeting was led by Miss Dora Hewett who has but recently recovered from an operation for appendicitis. For a number of years Miss Hewett was president of the League and her fellow members were delighted to meet her again. She is taking nurse's training at the Methodist Hospital in Los Angeles.

LITERARY SECTION MEETS

The Literary Section held its first meeting at the home of Mrs. H. E. Bartlett, curator, on Tuesday afternoon. "Vacation Reminiscences" and assignment of the topics for the year occupied the time. The subject for December 3 is the study of Italy from the following phases: Geography, to be given by Mrs. Bartlett; Italy's position in the war, by Mrs. Leavitt; literature, music and art, by Mrs. Pack.

The work of the section for the entire year deals with an exhaustive study of the countries that have figured the most prominently in the great war, the climax being "The Living Present."

The section meets with the curator, Mrs. H. E. Bartlett, 347 North Brand Boulevard, at 2:30. All club members who are fond of research cannot afford to miss any of these meetings.

DEATH OF ARMANDA LOUISE MORROW

Armanda Louise Morrow entered into rest at her home at 130 Franklin Court, this city, Tuesday, November 19th, 1918, aged sixty-six years. Three sons mourn the loss of a mother, Robert M., Clyde H., and Ensign Ray L Morrow, of the U. S. S. New Hampshire. Ensign Morrow reached Glendale this morning. The deceased has resided here for twelve years and leaves a large circle of friends and acquaintances by whom she will be greatly missed. She was a member of the Glendale Presbyterian Church and a very regular attendant. She was also active in Red Cross work. Funeral services will be held Thursday at 2:30 o'clock at the parlors of the Jewel City Undertaking Company, and interment will be made in Forest Lawn Memorial Park.

DEATH OF SARAH FRANCES VRADENBERG

Little Sarah Frances Vradenberg, age 7 years, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George Vradenberg of 415 West Dryden street, was taken away by the death angel Monday, November 18th, and two sisters and five brothers mourn, Mary, Jessie, Albert, Tom, George, John and Donald, the brother last named having been called home from San Diego where he is in the Naval Training School. Sarah contracted influenza and was considered convalescent but suffered a relapse which proved fatal. Services, which will be private, are being held in the parlors of the Jewel City Undertaking Company today (Wednesday) at 10:30 a. m. and interment will be made in Forest Lawn Memorial Park.

One way to build up community interests is to know one another; also where possible, to deal with home merchants.

now, (can't tell you of course). Another division was here, they were relieved in very short order and "we old vets" as Clara calls us, were called upon. Everything came out fine and dandy. I wouldn't have missed it for the world, but I don't want to see any more. You asked if we came in real contact with the Huns, we sure do. You see we have a barrage ahead of us and those who are not killed we must battle with, but nine times out of ten they surrender. The main thing one has to look out for are the sharpshooters in the trees. Now when we go over the top, sometimes we shoot all the time, then other times, we crawl on hands and knees. The only time I was hit very bad, was July 15th. A piece of shell hit me in the back while we were lying on the ground. In this last drive, a bullet hit my helmet, just missed my face, Whew, maybe you think I didn't make a quick drop. I am in good health, everything is fine, danger doesn't bother me in the least, but I wish it was all over, of course. I am willing to stay at the Front and battle hard till Christmas and run chances of being "bumped off" if we only would be sent back to the States by the first of the year, as I am pretty sure Peace will come by that time.

A few weeks ago, I saw Ormond Bradley and Murray Durham. I was sure glad to see them, and we had a great time talking over experiences, since leaving our happy little town among the hills. Their division has been through a hard drive. The mail call just blew. Several letters for me. My, but we're glad to get them.

You ask me what I want for Xmas. The only thing I really need maybe, is a pair of feet warmers. I still have that good sweater and other knitted things you sent me last year, the government has plenty of sacks now, not like last winter. But for goodness sake, send Chocolates, Nabiscoes, or even some kind of Xmas candy, anything containing sugar. We sometimes eat sugar itself when we can get it from the French people and that's seldom. Am glad you mention beef subes, they will be fine, for, at times, during a hard drive, we have only hard bread to eat for lunches. Did I tell you of the time we lost our coffee? We had been in a desperate battle for hours with no eats. At last a breathing spell came. We could see our rolling kitchen away down the line.—How good the coffee did smell, but,—the coffee can had been hit, the coffee soaked into the ground, the eats were scattered about and a dead horse in the midst. Mere words can not fully describe disappointment for both men and officers.

Just now, I am in my little dugout, three feet in the ground. I have my canvass up so the German Airplanes cannot see my candle light. Even though it is quite chilly I am quite cozy. We are close to the lines in reserve expecting to move up any minute.

Will write again in a few days if everything is favorable. Give my regards to every one I know.

With lots of love,
Your loving brother,
Holman P. Midcalf, Co. "D"

HE PUT THE ENGLISH ON THAT FLING, THOUGH

(By United Press)

Paris, Nov. 3. (By Mail).—The most-talked-of soldier in a certain famous American division is a Yank of Italian extraction, who learned more English since he entered the army than he ever knew before. However, he is still more apt at soldiering than pronunciation.

This Yank was waiting in support in front of a stretch of ground which the advancing Americans had taken a few hours previously. While peering over the trench he saw a lone boche furtively looking out of the entrance of the dugout. The German disappeared with Tony after him. A lieutenant and a squad of men followed and surrounded the entrance.

There was a deep silence and the squad listened anxiously. Finally the watchers heard scuffling in the depths of the dugout and there was silence again. The lieutenant shouted down the entrance.

"Did you get him all right, Tony?"

"Yes, sir, came the reply. "I gotta twenta-two of a him."

IMPROVEMENT MEETING

of Mr. Ambrosini building a hotel said that Mr. Ambrosini would be in Glendale the first of December and it is expected he will take up the work immediately.

Alfred F. Priest spoke on the importance of advertising this section of the valley. He said a few years ago, when the Pacific Electric advertised La Ramada so extensively, a great many tourists were brought to Glendale and in this way had an opportunity to see the attractions of the city.

Roy L. Kent spoke on the subject of establishing an industrial district somewhere in Glendale. He said in the past few years there have been opportunities for Glendale to get good industrial plants to locate here, but on account of a lack of a place to locate them the matter was dropped and those concerns located in neighboring cities.

Mattison B. Jones said it had occurred to him that Glendale had suffered some in the past in not being wide awake to her interests. He said that during the war activities, while so many war industries were being located in various sections of the country, it seemed that there was no effort made by Glendale to get any of these industries. He thinks Glendale is so near to the great harbors of the world that it is important that she should be wide awake to all improvements that will tend to build up this section of the valley.

Ezra Parker is a strong advocate of a Chamber of Commerce, Board of Trade or Improvement Association employing a competent man to do promotion work for this section of the valley.

George H. Bentley thinks that the secretary of the Chamber of Commerce or the promotion man should not depend upon his salary by personally collecting it from the members. He thinks the secretary or promotion man should be paid a salary from a fund that is subscribed voluntarily by the members.

Mr. Wells informally mentioned a plan that the Forest Lawn Memorial Park Association has in mind of honoring the soldier dead. It is the purpose of this association to give free of charge ground of sufficient space for several hundred burying places, and that in connection with this the people of this section provide a suitable tablet or building for the enrollment of the names of the soldiers who died fighting for their country.

C. E. Damerell expressed himself as being ready to approve of any legitimate promotion that might be taken up for the good of the city.

On motion of C. L. Chandler it was decided that a committee of five be appointed to select a name for the association and report at the next meeting. Names sugested as members of this committee were: G. H. Bentley, W. E. Evans, C. H. Toll, Norton C. Wells, Roy L. Kent, V. M. Hollister, A. F. Priest, Ezra Parker and H. G. McBain. The meeting adjourned to assemble again Tuesday evening November 26.

ELKS HOME STILL DEAR

Again last Saturday added to my pleasure by receiving a ribbon of greetings from several members of the order, written on August 20th, so I cannot help but feel that the brothers over here are much in the hearts of the ones at home. Have shown the letter to several of the boys here and they all agree that it was a very novel idea and also very refreshing to receive, puts new pep in a man when he is feeling sort of lonely and homesick.

Perhaps you would be interested in a brief account of my trip over here, one cannot state what port he sailed from, but we were on a very slow boat, the trip lasting 19 days, was in England for a short period, had an opportunity of seeing quite a bit of that country, rode in their dinky trains with compartments for eight men. The cars resemble the old time stage coach more than real trains. On arriving in France we stayed one night at a rest camp and the next day boarded a train of cattle cars, have often heard of the soldiers riding in cattle cars but this was my first experience, not half so bad as it sounds, they generally put forty men in a car about half the size of an American car but we were lucky and only had thirty in ours. We travelled three days and nights in this manner and then stopped off for a week or so after which we moved on to this point.

At present I am located in quite a large village, am billeted in an old mill on the banks of a river, have a very good place to live, warm and dry and I don't think I am losing any weight from lack of food and so far I have not made the acquaintance of any cooties so consider myself very fortunate.

France is a very pretty place, more like a park than anything I can describe, the towns are very close together and most of the buildings are built of stone, they have very good roads all bordered with trees and foliage. In fact there are trees and vines everywhere you turn. The weather at present is very good, not a great deal of rain and so far a great deal like California weather except that the mornings are a little cooler than they are there at this time of the year.

All in all I am enjoying my visit in France to the fullest extent, but suppose the novelty will soon wear off and I know that I will be very glad when it is all over and we are able to go back to the dear Old U. S. A. and to 1289 and its good times.

Again thanking you and hoping that I may hear from you now and then, I am. Fraternally yours,
Sgt. E. M. Post.

ITALIANS WON'T STEAL

(By United Press)

Rome, Nov. 3. (By Mail.)—"Italy ought to be called the country of unlocked doors," says F. C. Thwaits, Milwaukee, Wis., in charge of a large section of American Red Cross work in Italy.

"I think honesty is the chief trait of the Italians," he says. "The best proof of this general statement is that I never lock my hotel door anywhere in Italy, nor do other Americans after they have been here a few weeks. We go away from our own hotels, perhaps for days at a time, leaving our doors unlocked and all our personal belongings at the mercy of the first comer, and we never lose anything."

"Out on the front you can leave your automobile anywhere you like, with your overcoat and other belongings, and be sure that nothing will be disturbed."

WILLING TO OBLIGE

John's father kept a candy store, and the little fellow often brought candy to school to divide with the other children. One morning the teacher noticed a strong smell of peppermint and began to investigate in order to stop eating during school hours. Unable to detect the culprit she bent over small John and whispered:

"John, have you any candy?"

"No, ma'am," he replied.

"Have any of the other boys any?"

"No, ma'am."

As she turned away he touched her hand and said: "I'll bring you some at noon."

DON'T LIKE SIBERIA

(By United Press)

Tokio, Oct. 20. (By Mail).—Although Siberia is just across the Sea of Japan, Japanese colonists in that part of Russia number only between 5,000 and 6,000 according to a new census. In Vladivostock are 4,000 Japanese residents, at Habarovsk, 430; Blagovestchtensk, 200; Nikolsk, 300; Irkutsk, 100 and from one to 40 at each of a half dozen other Siberian towns.
